The screenshot shows the UBC Vancouver Campus website. The main navigation bar includes 'Student Services' and a menu with 'New to UBC', 'Courses, money & enrolment', 'Health', 'Campus life', 'Career and experience', 'UBC Life blog', 'Support', and 'Logins'. The breadcrumb trail reads: 'Student Services » Career and experience » International experiences » Summer abroad » Université Lumière Lyon 2 CIEF French Language and Culture Summer School'. The page title is 'Université Lumière Lyon 2 CIEF French Language and Culture Summer School'. Under 'About the Program', it describes a four-week immersive program in Lyon, France, focusing on French language proficiency and cultural experiences. It mentions that final details are published by the partner institution and that applications must go through Go Global. A link to a PDF document is provided. On the right, under 'PARTNER INSTITUTION', it lists 'Université Lumière Lyon 2'. Under 'PROGRAM DATES', it says 'Mid-June to mid-July'. Under 'COUNTRY', it lists 'France'. Under 'AREA(S) OF STUDY', it lists 'Arts' and 'French Language'. At the bottom, it says 'TUITION PAYABLE TO'.

Course Content

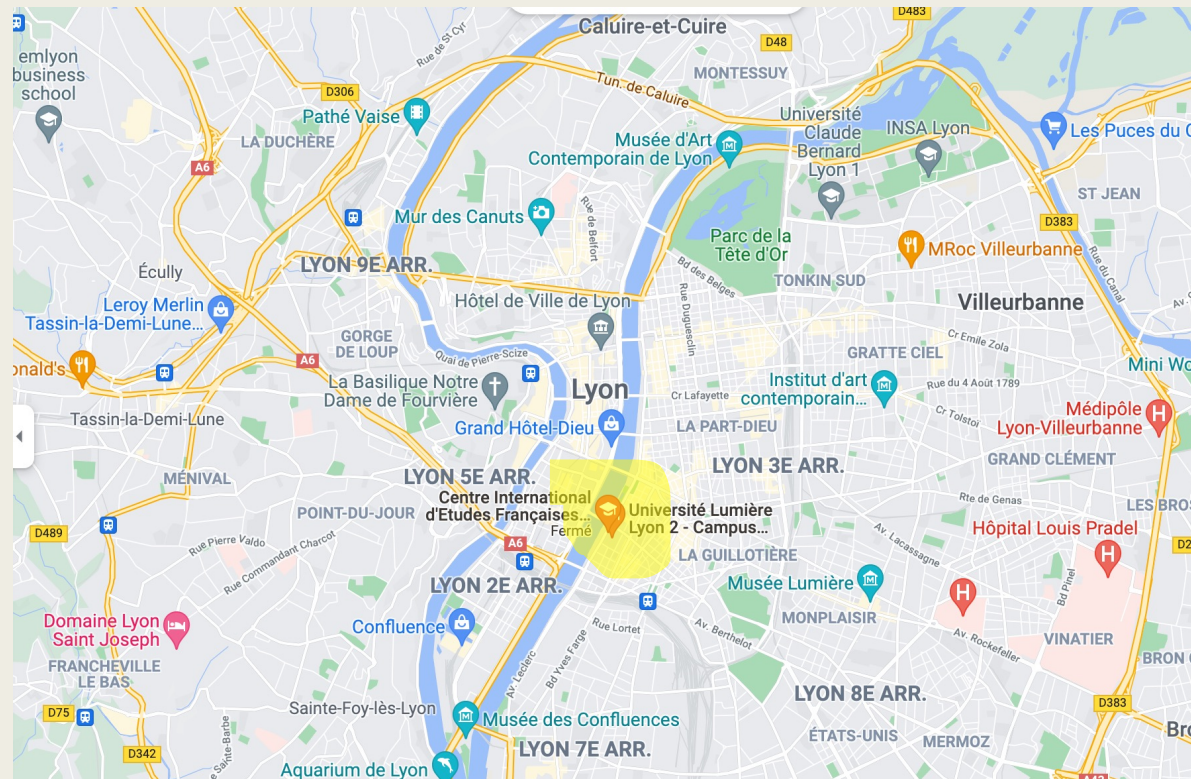

- This course offers to explore the many sides of Lyon capital (gastronomy, biodiversity, industry, ideology, literary) and of Lyon heritage (UNESCO heritage since 1998)
- Offered in French and in France, this course explores the vibrant literary culture of Lyon, through visits, museums, short literary texts, comics, podcasts and movies.

Why Lyon?

- At the crossing of two major rivers in France, Lyon used to be at the crossroads of many things.
- Lyon is the capital city. At the time of the Roman Empire, it used to be the capital of France under the name Lugdunum.
- Later, it became the European capital of the silk industry (Histoire des Canuts).
- Its traboules (a labyrinth through the inside stairs of the old town buildings) defeated the nazis during the Occupation.
- Cultural: It is also the world capital of gastronomy since 1935. Its is famous for its Beaujolais wine and its unique puppet show Guignol.
- More recently, it has been elected « French capital of biodiversity » in 2019. Lyon Capitale is also the name of a local newspaper, a local radio, and a local TV channel.
